OPEN EVENING
Thursday 7 June 2012
6.30 – 7.45 pm

The Philadelphia Association, founded in 1965 by RD Laing and others, has always challenged accepted ways of understanding and responding to mental suffering. We stand for a recognition and respect for the individual, a belief in the value of ordinary ways of living and being together, a scepticism towards ways of thinking that are too often taken for granted and a commitment to conversation as a way of articulating what disturbs people. At our open evening Philadelphia Association psychotherapists will be talking about:

Individual and group psychotherapy
Low cost psychotherapy
Training in psychotherapy
Community houses
Introductory course

Venue: 4 Marty's Yard, 17 Hampstead High Street, London NW3 1QW
